

NANOVIC INSTITUTE
FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES

WINTER SESSION CLASS

DEEP DIVE INTO DIPLOMACY

EURO 30007 Deep Dive into Diplomacy (1-credit course)

Instructor: Interim Director Clemens Sedmak

Diplomacy is a way of doing politics: the established method of negotiating inter-state relations and of influencing the decisions and behavior of foreign governments and peoples through presence and engagement, dialogue, and negotiation. Diplomats are committed to their home country, but also their host country and the bigger picture of the common good. Contributors to peacebuilding and peacekeeping, diplomats, serve political purposes through cultural engagement. In this way, they contribute to “integral human development” in the design of international relations.

The Nanovic Institute is pleased to offer this new exploratory course in partnership with the Diplomatic Academy of Vienna. The course will provide insight into becoming a diplomat and working as a diplomat with a special focus on the connection between diplomacy and social justice. Four established European diplomats will help students establish the foundational skills needed in diplomatic work, explore the day-to-day lived experience of the diplomatic lifestyle, and discuss how diplomacy contributes to social justice issues and the common good.

There are 12 seats available for undergraduate students and 4 seats for graduate students.

If you are interested, please contact Student Programs Assistant Manager
Anna Dolezal (adolezal@nd.edu).

More information at nanovic.nd.edu/diplomacy.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME | KEOUGH SCHOOL OF GLOBAL AFFAIRS